

Political bias

Photo: rijksoverheid.nl

Political bias is when a State such as The Netherlands, slants or skews facts in order to make their personal political position look more attractive. For example when the government uses human rights, anti-racism and even the holocaust as a political instrument. The 2018 Human Rights Tulip has been awarded to the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights Zeid Ra'ad Al Hussein. Foreign minister Stef Blok will present him with the prize on 3 September in The Hague.

(IFUD of Human Rights)

2018